ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Creative Learning grant is designed to support arts education projects in K-12 public schools; after-school settings; and partnerships with community based organizations (ex: senior centers, etc.).

This funding is designed to support effective and innovative approaches to artist-led instruction both in and outside the school setting. These grants are meant to build the capacity of local artists and non-profit arts organizations while providing public school-aged students, adults, and seniors with high-quality artistic learning experiences. Projects should draw on arts education practices to engage participants in the creation and interpretation of artistic works. Instruction must be sequential, age- and skill-based, and focused on the exploration of art and the artistic process. Emphasis is placed on the depth and quality of the creative process through which participants learn through, or about, the arts.

The grant funds partnerships (applicants and their partners): The official applicant to the grant must be a Suffolk or Nassau County nonprofit arts & cultural organization, or an individual artist (or groups of artists). The project can take place at a Suffolk or Nassau County public school during the school day, at an after-school program, or at a community center. The school or community center is referred to as the "Partner."

Note: If an individual artist is the applicant, s/he must be from either Nassau or Suffolk County. However, if the applicant happens to be a Nassau County nonprofit arts & cultural organization, their teaching artists do not have to be from Nassau County.

PROGRAM GOALS

Creative Learning grants strive to build the capacity of local teaching artists and nonprofit arts organizations while 1) providing K-12 public school students high-quality artistic learning experiences, and 2) supporting projects that provide in-depth, age-and skills-appropriate opportunities for participants of all ages to create and experience the arts. This grant opportunity allows for teaching artists to work during-school and after-school program setting, or in community-based organizations (i.e., senior centers) to encourage and promote the importance of lifelong learning.

For teaching artists working in public schools, projects must focus on the exploration of art and the artistic process through the collaborative planning of artists and teachers. Inter-curricular collaboration is encouraged but not required. For teaching artists working in an after school or community-based setting, projects must be a sequential arts workshop/program for participants. Both after school and community-based projects must be open to the public.

PROJECT REQUIREMENTS

All Creative Learning projects must provide:

- Sequential, skills-based study that incorporates one or more art forms
- A minimum of three (3) sequential, hands-on learning sessions
- In-depth, age and skills appropriate learning opportunities
- Hands-on, participatory creation and/or learning opportunities in one or more art forms that may culminate in exhibitions, productions, or demonstrations
- Stated learning goals, methodologies and outcomes, and a means for student evaluation

Requirements for In-school projects, during the school day:

- Eligible projects will involve a direct collaboration between at least one non-arts classroom teacher and at least one teaching artist not currently affiliated with the partner school.
- Students should not be taken out of regular classes to participate, or be selected on a voluntary basis for participation in the program.
- Projects at schools are expected to be collaboratively designed, planned and taught by the participating teaching artist(s) and non-arts teacher(s).
- Creative Learning funds must not replace, or appear to replace, the role of certified arts teachers in schools. However, it is recommended that the school's certified art, music, dance, and/or theater teachers participate in the project.
- Project must involve at least three (3) hands-on learning sessions with the teaching artist and the same teacher/group of students (called the "core group"). Each session should be at least 30 minutes long. (Each block of time a teaching artist connects with a group of students, separated by time, can be considered one contact session.) It is recommended that contact sessions are separated by enough time for reflection and refining.

- Project must have an evaluation plan in place to assess the level of student achievement and understanding.
- A letter of commitment from the Partner to the Applicant must be included with the application in order to be eligible for funding. The letter of commitment must outline in detail the Partner's support of the project (monetarily and otherwise) and anticipated roles and responsibilities for each team member involved. The Principal or Executive Director should sign this letter of agreement, and it should appear on the Partner's letterhead.

Requirements for After-School and Community-Based Learning Projects:

- Project must involve at least three (3) hands-on learning sessions with the teaching artist and the same teacher/group of students (called the "core group"). Each session should be at least 30 minutes long. (Each block of time a teaching artist connects with a group of students, separated by time, can be considered one contact session.) It is recommended that contact sessions are separated by enough time for reflection and refining.
- Project must have an evaluation plan in place to assess the level of student achievement and understanding.
- A letter of commitment from the Partner to the Applicant must be included with the application in order to be eligible for funding. The letter of commitment must outline in detail the Partner's support of the project (monetarily and otherwise) and anticipated roles and responsibilities for each team member involved. The Principal or Executive Director should sign this letter of agreement and it should appear on the Partner's letterhead.
