

Margaret Guardi

Margaret Guardi, current WWBA Curator and Historian, graduated from SUNY Oneonta with a post-graduate certificate in Secondary ed-English. She has filled many roles at the WWBA since she first volunteered in 1998, from Tour Guide to Tea Party Director, to Curator/Historian. For many years Margaret volunteered at the Huntington Historical Society where she was a Board member and Collection Committee member, and volunteers at the Davis Town Meeting House in Coram. Her knowledge of Walt Whitman, historic costume, and local history has enabled her to manage and exhibit WWBA's collection, archives and library materials, and work closely with student interns to make the WWBA collection more accessible.
